

with the City Arts Centre. The Artist will also be expected to respond to opportunities to involve City staff and other community members.

Creative studio artists in any number of disciplines will be considered, including but not limited to visual arts and fine craft, writing, composing, and filmmaking. Pairs working in different disciplines or media from one another are especially encouraged to apply. Artists should be comfortable with and prepared to become a cohort as evolving Covid-19 restrictions dictate.

Yorath House is located at 13110 Buena Vista Road. The Studio is in a multi-use setting and will not support noisy, large-scale, or environmentally hazardous work. The Studio is a secure, accessible space, with natural light, and running water. The artists will be encouraged to make use of the park and public spaces surrounding Yorath House as well as the Studio.

Representatives from the Edmonton Arts Council, The City of Edmonton, and the City Arts Centre will review the submissions and select artists for further consideration and discussion. This may include an interview process. Emphasis will be placed on finding individuals with strong artistic work, an ability to engage in artistic work with and around non-artists, and good potential to advance their artistic work in the available space/time.

The Edmonton Arts Council is committed to equity in all aspects of its work and invites proposals from all interested artists. This pilot project is intended to attract artists in a wide variety of practices, creative fields, and cultural contexts.

To respond to this call, interested artists should provide a letter of interest and résumé/CV. In their proposal they should refer to some of the following items:

- The focus of their previous artistic work, and current topics or areas of artistic interest
- Their public exhibition or presentation record
- Previous experience engaging in artistic work with and around non-artists
- Potential avenues of artistic exploration for this residency
- Examples of the artists' experience in organizing and mounting a successful showing of artistic work
- How the artists will collaborate with each other and influence one another's work
- The preferred time frame and placement of their studio time in the calendar year

The candidate should each provide 10-15 examples of their recent work, using an appropriate digital format, preferably a link to an applicant's website, dropbox, or other online resource. Samples of existing co-creative work by the duo are welcomed, but not required.

The Yorath House Studio placement comes at no direct cost to the Artists. The Edmonton Arts Council has estimated $6,000 per-artist remuneration based on an 8-week placement. Other durations are negotiable, with proportional remuneration. The final dates, terms, and amounts are flexible and subject to the selection process and other scheduling factors.

This initiative is sponsored by the Edmonton Arts Council and the City of Edmonton.
